RAA, NOAA SIGN MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING TO ADVANCE RISK ASSESSMENT AND COMMUNICATION OF SEVERE WEATHER EVENTS

Washington, D.C. – Today, the Reinsurance Association of America (RAA) and the National Oceanic and Atmosphere Administration (NOAA) signed a memorandum of understanding (MOU) to collaborate on the shared goal of analyzing and communicating weather and climate hazard risks to key stakeholders.

"Weather and climate extremes continue to pose a significant risk to communities and our economy," said NOAA Administrator Rick Spinrad, Ph.D. "We know that certain extreme events are increasing, and we know that more people and physical facilities are in harm's way. This partnership will help improve our ability to make the scientifically informed decisions needed to improve resilience."

Halfway through 2024, the U.S. has already observed 15 separate billion-dollar natural disasters. In 2023, the U.S. experienced a record 28 separate billion-dollar climate and weather disasters, totaling nearly $95 billion. Now more than ever, the importance of properly assessing and communicating the risk of weather and climate hazards is paramount.

"The RAA appreciates the opportunity to meaningfully advance our long-standing relationship with NOAA with the continued goal of reducing the loss of lives and property damage caused by extreme weather events, as well as helping American families to prepare for and recover faster from these events, through better research and data," said RAA President Lee Covington. "The RAA looks forward to serving as a facilitator for industry engagement with NOAA on these important issues."

Going forward, the MOU allows NOAA and RAA to intensify and be even more intentional in taking action to achieve our common goals to protect and help the American people in connection with extreme weather events. Under the agreement, we will (1) work to improve the usefulness of and develop new risk-related products of significant value to RAA, the insurance industry and other stakeholders; (2) update and expand RAA's leading Catastrophe Risk Management educational program using the best and latest climate and weather information, and (3) work to better understand the risks faced by communities, especially underserved and vulnerable populations.

'If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise...

One of the former spies, an ex-MI6 officer named Richard Seddon, helped run a 2017 operation to copy files and record conversations in a Michigan office of the American Federation of Teachers, one of the largest teachers' unions in the nation. Mr. Seddon directed an undercover operative to secretly tape the union's local leaders and try to gather information that could be made public to damage the organization, documents show.
Using a different alias the next year, the same undercover operative infiltrated the congressional campaign of Abigail Spanberger, then a former C.I.A. officer who went on to win an important House seat in Virginia as a Democrat. The campaign discovered the operative and fired her.
Both operations were run by Project Veritas, a conservative group that has gained attention using hidden cameras and microphones for sting operations on news organizations, Democratic politicians and liberal advocacy groups. Mr. Seddon's role in the teachers' union operation — detailed in internal Project Veritas emails that have emerged from the discovery process of a court battle between the group and the union — has not previously been reported, nor has Mr. Prince's role in recruiting Mr. Seddon for the group's activities.

Both Project Veritas and Mr. Prince have ties to President Trump's aides and family. Whether any Trump administration officials or advisers to the president were involved in the operations, even tacitly, is unclear. But the effort is a glimpse of a vigorous private campaign to try to undermine political groups or individuals perceived to be in opposition to Mr. Trump's agenda.
Mr. Prince, the former head of Blackwater Worldwide and the brother of Education Secretary Betsy DeVos, has at times served as an informal adviser to Trump administration officials. He worked with the former national security adviser Michael T. Flynn during the presidential transition. In 2017, he met with White House and Pentagon officials to pitch a plan to privatize the Afghan war using contractors in lieu of American troops. Jim Mattis, then the defense secretary, rejected the idea.
Mr. Prince appears to have become interested in using former spies to train Project Veritas operatives in espionage tactics sometime during the 2016 presidential campaign. Reaching out to several intelligence veterans — and occasionally using Mr. Seddon to make the pitch — Mr. Prince said he wanted the Project Veritas employees to learn skills like how to recruit sources and hov

A spokesman for Mr. Prince declined to comment. Emails sent to Mr. Seddon went unanswered.
Mr. Prince is under investigation by the Justice Department over whether he lied to a congressional committee examining Russian interference in the 2016 election, and for possible violations of American export laws. Last year, the House Intelligence Committee made a criminal referral to the Justice Department about Mr. Prince, saying he lied about the circumstances of his meeting with a Russian banker in the Seychelles in January 2017.
Once a small operation running on a shoestring budget, Project Veritas in recent years has had a surge in donations from both private donors and conservative foundations. According to its latest publicly available tax filing, Project Veritas received $8.6 million in contributions and grants in 2018. Mr. O'Keefe earned about $387,000.
Last year, the group received a $1 million contribution made through the law firm Alston & Bird, a financial document obtained by The New York Times showed. A spokesman for the firm said that Alston & Bird "has never contributed to Project Veritas on its own behalf, nor is it a client of ours." The spokesman declined to say on wh behalf the contribution was made.

I. Financial Scope & Influence Networks:

1. Magnitude of Funding: Shillman isn't just a donor; he's a significant funder within far-right/anti-Islamist ecosystems. Estimates (based on DHFC disclosures, PAC records, and reports from organizations like SPLC) suggest contributions running into millions of dollars over decades.
2. Leveraging Non-Profit Structures: His donations largely flow through his charitable foundation, the Robert and Phyllis Shillman Foundation. Tax filings show:
    - Substantial grants to organizations designated as hate groups by SPLC (like DHFC).
    - Funding organizations focused solely on political advocacy and media influence (e.g., Project Veritas, Middle East Forum), not traditional charity work.
    - Critical Allegation: Critics argue this use of a charitable foundation provides tax advantages for funding overtly political and divisive activities, pushing the boundaries of non-profit legality towards partisan "dark money" influence.
3. Multi-Nodal Funding Strategy: Shillman doesn't just fund one group; he funds interconnected organizations and figures that amplify each other's messaging. Examples:
    - Funding both James O'Keefe (media operations) and David Horowitz/DHFC (ideological hub/research) and speakers like Kassam and Robinson (activist messengers). This creates an echo chamber effect.
    - Funding campus groups (like TPUSA chapters) and national media personalities and think tanks pushing similar narratives.

II. Specific Controversies Beyond Ideology:

1. Tommy Robinson (Stephen Yaxley-Lennon):
    - Beyond the Tour: Leaked communications (reported by HuffPost, The Guardian) suggest Shillman's support wasn't just logistical for the 2018 tour. He was involved in strategic discussions aimed at "rebranding" Robinson for the US audience, attempting to distance him from his violent EDL history and criminal record. This was seen as intentional whitewashing.
    - Link to Islamophobic Movement: Funding Robinson was interpreted as direct support for anti-Muslim street protest movements linked to violent far-right extremism in Europe, despite Robinson's public disavowals of violence.
2. James O'Keefe & Project Veritas:
    - Deception as Strategy: Shillman publicly endorses O'Keefe's undercover methods. Critics allege this isn't just "gotcha journalism" but intentional deception and entrapment, designed to manufacture scandals against opponents (liberals, media, teachers' unions, Planned Parenthood). Funding this methodology is seen as validating unethical tactics.
    - Legitimacy Crisis: Multiple Veritas stings have collapsed under scrutiny due to demonstrable deceptive editing and factual inaccuracies. Critics argue Shillman's continued funding (even after high-profile failures like the ABC News/Pfizer debacle in 2023) signals a disregard for journalistic integrity, prioritizing political impact over truth.

3. David Horowitz Freedom Center (DHFC):
    - The "Hate Group" Designation: While DHFC dismisses the SPLC label, extensive documentation exists of DHFC promoting:
        - Conspiracy theories (e.g., Muslim Brotherhood infiltration of government).
        - Smearing mainstream Muslim organizations as terrorist fronts.
        - Vilifying progressive movements (BLM, LGBTQ+ advocates) as inherently anti-American.
    - Radicalization Pipeline: Critics view DHFC, heavily funded by Shillman, as an ideological nerve center that fuels anti-Muslim sentiment and provides intellectual cover for far-right policies, influencing lawmakers and activists.
    - Concrete Allegation: Former employees and whistleblowers (cited anonymously in various reports) have described a workplace culture steeped in conspiracy theories and aggressive attacks on perceived enemies.
4. Raheem Kassam & Anti-Muslim Activism:
    - Funding Extremist Rhetoric: Shillman financed Kassam's explicitly named group "STOP-ISLAMIZATION OF AMERICA" (SIOA). This move is interpreted not just as ideological alignment but as actively supporting a group whose very purpose was framed around opposing the presence and rights of Muslims in America, moving beyond critique of Islamism into outright religious targeting.

III. Direct Legal & Ethical Concerns Raised:

1. Undisclosed Coordination? Campaign finance experts (quoted in outlets like OpenSecrets, Rolling Stone) raise concerns about the potential for undisclosed coordination between Shillman-funded non-profits (like DHFC running voter guides) and political campaigns they support, which could violate FEC rules if proven.
2. Exploitation of Non-Profit Status: The core "dirt" allegation centers on whether Shillman's foundation, acting as a major funder for groups like DHFC and Project Veritas, pushes the legal boundaries of charitable status to subsidize partisan warfare and potentially hateful propaganda without disclosing donors beyond the foundation itself. Does this constitute an abuse of the tax code for political ends? (This is a matter of ongoing legal debate and scrutiny by groups monitoring dark money).
3. Unaccountable Influence: Shillman, a private citizen with enormous wealth, wields significant influence over national discourse and policy debates around Israel, Islam, immigration, and media through his funding. The lack of transparency and direct accountability beyond his personal beliefs is seen as fundamentally undemocratic.

approximately 1,600 active life sciences companies, world-leading expertise in AI and digital health, and a highly developed centralized electronic health records system. 4 6

The global health system faces a crisis marked by soaring expenditures, projected to exceed $10 trillion by 2022, largely due to increased life expectancy and the rising prevalence of chronic diseases such as cancer, heart disease, and diabetes. 2 4 6 This crisis, combined with the high cost and low return on investment in pharmaceutical development, has created a pressing need for more precise, personalized, and effective medical solutions, which bioconvergence aims to deliver. 2 4 In response, Israel is spearheading innovations in areas like synthetic biology, gene therapy, and smart biosensors, exemplified by companies like BiomX, which uses AI and synthetic biology to develop microbiome-based therapeutics. 4 The country is also applying bioconvergence to climate adaptation, developing sustainable materials and biotech-driven food solutions, such as lab-grown milk from Remilk, which has received regulatory approval in several countries. 5 8

While the United States and Israel are at the forefront, Canada is also part of this global movement, though its specific national strategy is less detailed in the provided sources. The bioconvergence revolution is fundamentally about breaking down silos between disciplines and fostering a true partnership culture to accelerate innovation and solve complex health and environmental challenges. 2 The success of this revolution relies on systemic collaboration, significant investment, and the integration of advanced technologies like AI and CRISPR, which are enabling breakthroughs in personalized medicine, early disease detection, and targeted drug delivery. 4 7

As far as Mayor Michael Sobol of Black Mountain, NC goes, his arc hits close to home for our investigative work and intel as well.

Mayor Sobol went so far as to PRAISE how great of a job FEMA workers had been doing with their WNC DISASTER RELIEF EFFORTS!

Dear Chairman Perry:
My name is Brian Trascher, and I am the National Vice President and Public Information Officer for the United Cajun Navy. We are a 501c3 Nonprofit disaster response and relief organization based in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and we have more than a dozen state chapters. As Hurricane Helene approached the coast of Florida's "big bend" on September 27th, 2024 I was actually inside of the National Response Coordination Center at FEMA headquarters in Washington DC. This was by invitation and had been scheduled a couple of months prior to the visit. Coincidentally, our meetings and tour of FEMA headquarters took place on the same day that the NRCC was put on a Level 1 activation due to the impending Hurricane Helene. We were invited to sit in the main conference room as FEMA leadership participated in video meetings with regional offices, appointed and elected officials who were all coordinating the National Response to what was expected to be a catastrophic weather event.
Our President and Founder, Todd Terrell, flew back to Baton Rouge that evening so that he could ensure that supplies were being loaded onto trucks from our warehouse and ready to preposition in Florida. I stayed behind in DC with our Executive Director Sara Galliano to finish out our meeting schedule she had arranged with the Red Cross and Pentagon, then I flew back to Louisiana on September 28th.
We had prepositioned supply trucks and SAR teams in the Florida Panhandle to more efficiently mobilize into affected areas when the weather conditions became safe. Prior to Helene making landfall, the United Cajun Navy's chief meteorologist Jeff George warned Todd and I of his concern about the forward speed of the storm. He explained that by moving so fast, the high intensity center would not degrade quickly enough before reaching inland to the mountainous areas of Eastern Tennessee, Eastern Georgia, and Western North Carolina. He suggested that the rainfall amounts could cause massive mudslides and catastrophic flooding in those communities who were not likely expecting this type of weather event.
After watching this prediction unfold, and getting reports from team members within our Georgia chapter, we quickly realized that the greatest need was going to actually be in these mountainous regions well north of the Florida Coast. On September 29th, we redirected approximately half of our fleet of supply trucks northward to Eastern Georgia. We also received reports that traditional interstate routes going into parts of Tennessee and North Carolina were potentially washed out and impassable by vehicles. Todd ordered me to fly to North Carolina to get a sitrep from the ground since communications were very spotty. I arrived in Hickory, North Carolina on October 1st and took a reconnaissance flight via helicopter into the mountains where I was able to survey the towns surrounding Asheville, North Carolina. When I made a fuel stop in Asheville, I did run into some FEMA executives who were already on the ground. They were coordinating the arrival of more of their own associates as well as planning missions with the National Guard. We can testify to the fact that FEMA was on the ground early, however there are many reasons that will no doubt be investigated as to why the execution of the response was largely viewed by the public as delayed at best. Some of the meetings we had participated in at FEMA headquarters the week before had to do with FEMA's desire to work with NGOs such as the United Cajun Navy to coordinate first response as FEMA is not technically a first responder. There are many regulations and parts of the Stafford Act that will need to be examined so that these relationships can be solidified and better coordinated in the future. We hope that whoever leads FEMA in the next administration will continue these efforts to work with groups like ours.
During my initial aerial surveillance, I was immediately able to surmise that our traditional method of swift water rescue was not going to be the appropriate response for this mission. We put out a call to our network for fixed and rotary wing aircraft pilots to deploy to the region as soon as possible. One of the first chopper pilots to contact me was a volunteer named Ezra Rickards from Delaware, who flew his long range Bel helicopter all the way down to North Carolina at his own expense. Ezra performed over 80 rescue missions with his aircraft alone and was the first aircraft to make a supply drop for the United Cajun Navy in Black Mountain in those first days. Our Georgia chapter president, Shannon Ross, coordinated a fleet of approximately 45 private fixed wing aircraft out of an airport in Peachtree, Georgia where the United Cajun Navy had delivered supplies and provided fuel for these aircraft to fly into Western North Carolina airfields. We then expanded the role of our helicopter vendor, Total Flight Solutions, out of Davidson County North Carolina. TFS was able to reach beyond their own fleet and coordinate approximately 50 total rotary aircraft that flew non-stop missions of supplies into the mountains and evacuating people out of the mountains. This air operation went on from dusk till dawn for at least 7 days. In addition to the United Cajun Navy, other NGOs such as Operation AirDrop, Operation Helo, and Mercury One were coordinating air operations in much of the same manner for roughly the same period and beyond. Congressman Cory Mills of Florida personally participated in airlift and heavy lift rescue operations for several days or a week, he can confirm that precise duration.
It's hard to estimate how many pounds of supplies were brought in to the affected areas and how many people were evacuated out, but between the joint operations of United Cajun Navy and our partner NGOs it's safe to say that hundreds of thousands of pounds of emergency supplies and hundreds of the flood victims were evacuated out of those Sloan's a spy who's clearly implicated in espionage against UNC students in collusion with Mossad and the Israeli MoSA. Meanwhile, Bill Ellmore is tied to 9/11 and almost CERTAINLY Sayeret Matkal. Punchbowl is on UJA (Mossad) payroll.

What a traitorous criminal cunt.🤣💀

(No, I don't give a FUCK I spelled his name wrong as "Kassan" the whole time. He doesn't fucking deserve a correction, as evidenced by articles I referenced also spelling it wrong.)

@7SEES_ @Imbackbitches45 @matt_vanswol It's simple, my friend. Tyler Robinson isn't the shooter. He never was. And everything happening in the aftermath is from people identified in this thread who are guilty of Murder 1, posthumously trying to create the narrative that indicates he WAS the shooter. But he 100% isn't.

Mel
@Villgecrazylady · Follow

I keep thinking about this detail in the booking statement. If Tyler isn't cooperating with investigators, how did they locate this footage so quickly? UVU is huge. There are 18 pay-for-parking lots, 10 student parking lots and 2 parking garages. That's hundreds of hours of Show more Investigators also discovered a shoe impression on the northeast corner rooftop edge of the Losee Center building. This shoe impression was located in the vicinity where Suspect climbed down from the rooftop. The shoe impression is consistent with the shoe sole characteristics of a Converse/Chuck Taylor shoe.

On the evening of September 11, 2025 a family member of Tyler Robinson reached out to a family friend, who contacted the Washington County Sheriff's Office with information that Robinson had confessed to them or implied that he had committed the incident. This information was relayed to the Utah County Sheriff's Office and scene investigators at UVU. This information was also conveyed to the FBI.
Investigators reviewed additional video footage from UVU surveillance, and identified Robinson arriving on UVU campus in a grey Dodge Challenger at approximately 08:29 on September 10 th , in which he is observed on video in a plain maroon t-shirt, light colored shorts, a black hat with a white logo, and light colored shoes. When encountered in-person by investigators in Washington County on September 12, early morning hours, Robinson was observed in consistent clothing with the surveillance images.

Indeed, we will. And swiftly.

The only difference between Jews being forced to dig their own graves in 1942 and 2025, is that in 2025 we are going to hunt down the motherfuckers that did it and kill them.

PS: Or should we ask ADAM MILSTEIN, JACK POSOBIEC, IAN MILES CHEONG, RAHEEM KASSAN, SEBASTIAN GORKA, DAVE RABOIS or RABBI SCHMULEY BOTEACH?
Or would it be better if we just reached out to the ISRAELI KNESSET directly?
Either way works. Fgts. Just let us know.

You need to ask yourself ... why is Jack Posobiec and his entire family repeatedly and relentlessly pushing the corrupt FBI's laughable narrative while completely ignoring the right to due process and presumption of innocence for Tyler Robinson? Does this look organic to you?

Daniel Greenfield / Sultan Knish
It's all a lie.
The Oct 7 massacres were not carried out to create a 'Palestinian' state, to break out of an 'open air prison' in Gaza or any of the lies the media has systemically deluged us with.
They did it to capture Jerusalem.
That's why Hamas named the operation 'Al-Aqsa Flood' after the victory mosque formerly planted by Muslim invaders on the site of the Jewish Temple. That's why Hamas leader Ismail Haniyeh began his Oct 7 invasion speech with complaints about Jewish presence prayers at the Temple site near the Al-Aqsa mosque. That's why the Hamas emblem features the Al-Aqsa mosque between two crossed swords. Israeli soldiers who served in Gaza reported seeing those same images in homes around Gaza after the Islamic Jihadist group had spent a generation riling up the Muslim population to launch a holy war to conquer Jerusalem.
And it's not just Hamas.
